The mission of the Missouri Women's Council is to promote the economic success of Missouri women by connecting them to information and resources.

Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon
Governor

David Kerr
Director

Lisa Althoff, Executive Director
Missouri Women's Council

Dear Friends,

The Missouri Women's Council is pleased to offer the "Women's Resource Guide." The "Women's Resource Guide" is a directory of programs, services and websites related to issues of interest for women. It is our hope that this guide will serve as a valuable source for addressing the needs and concerns of women in Missouri.

It is the intent of the Missouri Women's Council to work closely with other agencies and community-based organizations to build awareness, educate, promote opportunities for, and enhance the lives and well being of Missouri's women and families. By providing information and resources to enhance the employability and skill development of women and families, women are given the support needed to pursue economic goals and dreams.

With all of the issues facing women, it is an inspiration that we have achieved so much and continue evolving into the fastest-growing, most formidable force in business and the workforce. However, we still have a way to go, and can always use additional resources to help us achieve our goals. That is why the council has developed the Women's Resource Guide. The original version of this document arose from requests received from individuals seeking the council's assistance. The current version now contains a comprehensive list of organizations and groups to help achieve the Missouri Women's Council's mission, which is to promote the economic success of Missouri women by connecting women to information and resources.

I wish to thank Governor Jay Nixon and David Kerr, Director of the Missouri Department of Economic Development for their continued support of the Missouri Women's Council. I would also like to thank the Missouri Women's Council board for making this guide a reality.

Most of all, I want to thank you, the citizens of Missouri, for realizing that when women's lives are improved, the lives of their children, their families, their communities, and their state are also enriched.

Sincerely,

Missouri State Departments

Office of Administration

The Office of Administration is the state's service and administrative control agency. Created by the General Assembly on January 15, 1973, it combines and coordinates the central management functions of state government. Its responsibilities were clarified and amended by the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974. The chief administrative officer is the commissioner of administration who is appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The commissioner appoints the deputy commissioners and the directors of the divisions of Accounting; Budget and Planning; Information Technology Services; Personnel; Facilities Management Design and Construction; and Purchasing and Materials Management.

The Office of Equal Opportunity assists and monitors state agencies in promoting and ensuring equal opportunity within state government through employment, provision of services and operation of facilities.

The Missouri Commission on Intergovernmental Relations provides a forum for state and local governments to deal with mutual problems. The commission serves as a clearinghouse for information relevant to intergovernmental issues.

Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration

The Missouri Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registrations has four objectives. The Insurance division promotes effective competition and regulates where necessary to ensure consumers can make informed insurance purchase decisions based on the price and quality of service from a credible, licensed agent. The Finance division ensures the safety and soundness of banks, trust companies, consumer credit facilities, mortgage brokers and savings and loan institutions by monitoring regulatory compliance to safeguard and maintain public confidence in Missouri's financial system. The Credit Union division serves to examine, supervise, charter, merge and liquidate credit unions so all consumers receive the services and operations they deserve. The Professional Registration division protects consumers by licensing and regulating over 400,000 professional Missourians through the support of 38 professional boards and commissions.

Missouri Procurement Technical Assistance Centers (MO PTAC)

Helping Missouri Businesses Win Government Contracts

MO PTAC helps Missouri businesses obtain and perform federal, state, and local government contracts. MO PTAC services are available to all Missouri businesses with emphasis on small business (SB) Veteran Owned small businesses (VOSB), Service Disabled VOSB (SDVOSB), 8 (a) firms, small disadvantaged businesses (SDB), woman-owned small businesses (WOSB), firms in HUBZones, Minority Business Enterprises (MBE), Women Business Enterprises (WBE), and Disadvantaged Business Enterprises (DBE).

MO PTAC counselors will help you identify and market to the offices buying your product or service.

MO PTAC computers search local, state and federal government databases daily to find suitable bid leads that meet your capabilities.

MO PTAC assists with bid preparation including completion of forms, understanding of regulations and clauses.

MO PTAC assists Missouri businesses with various government registrations including the Central Contractor Registration (CCR) and the On-Line Representations and Certifications Applications (ORCA). In addition, assistance is provided for state and local government vendor applications.

MO PTAC provides assistance in applying for federal, state and local government certifications.

MO PTAC can help with getting your company entered into numerous vendors or bidders mailing lists, thus enabling your firm to receive solicitations or bidding forms automatically.

MO PTAC has a database of more than 80,000 federal and military specifications and standards.

MO PTAC can provide you with price history information about products that have been assigned a national stock number (NSN).

MO PTAC offers assistance with timely contracting issues, including electronic commerce via the Internet.

MO PTAC has trained counselors who can provide procurement counseling assistance in many areas such as production, delivery/performance, quality, packaging, marking and payment.

MO PTAC works in cooperation with the Missouri Small Business Development Centers, which assist businesses with a variety of management issues, including business planning, access to financing, marketing and human resources, helping high-technology firms attract Small Business Innovative Research and Small Business Technology Transfer funding from federal agencies that fund research and development.

The MO PTAC program is a statewide effort partially funded by a grant from the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) to help Missouri businesses compete and win government contracts. The grant was awarded to the Curators of the University of Missouri to establish a system of procurement assistance in Missouri. The program is cooperative effort of University of Missouri Extension, the University of Missouri-Kansas City and the Missouri University of Science and Technology. MO PTAC does not guarantee that the client will receive any contracts. Should there be a dispute between the client and the government, MO PTAC will not be held accountable.

Missouri Office of Equal Opportunity

Every year, the State of Missouri, through the Division of Purchasing and Materials Management, as well as the Division of Facilities Management, Design & Construction, annually spends between 1.3 and 1.6 billion dollars on essential goods and services, as well as renovations to and the construction of new state facilities. The purpose of the Office of Equal Opportunity is "to serve as a resource for promoting diversity within the state workforce and improving the opportunities for women and minorities."

The Office of Equal Opportunity, located within the State Office of Administration, is responsible for administering the State of Missouri's Minority and Women Business Enterprise (MBE/WBE) Program, as outlined by Executive Order 05-30. The program is designed to fulfill the Mission Statement of OEO, which works "to assist women and minorities in developing opportunities to contract with the state, economically empowering traditionally underserved communities and improving the overall fiscal vitality of the State of Missouri." MBE/WBE Certification from the State of Missouri increases a business's exposure to and contacting opportunities with state agencies, large contractors, and other sub-contractors seeking qualified minority and/or female participation in state and private contracting.

WBE/MBE Certification

What is an MBE or WBE?

A Minority Business Enterprises is a business that is at least 51% owned and controlled by one or more minority persons. A Woman Business Enterprise is a business that is at least 51% owned and controlled by a woman. A racial minority is, for the purposes of the State of Missouri's MBE program, defined as individuals who are Black, American Indian, Hispanic, Asian American and other similar racial minority groups as per Missouri Revised Statutes Chapter 33 Section 33.750. Also included are Alaskan Natives, Pacific Islanders, and Aleuts. A complete list is provided on page 2 of our Policies and Procedures Manual located on the links of interest page.

May I qualify as both; an MBE and WBE?

Only women who also fall into one of the racial or ethnic categories can qualify for classification as both a minority and woman-owned business enterprise M/WBE. A woman and a minority cannot share ownership of a company to qualify for both as one individual must hold 51% ownership. The following requisites must also be met:

- Own 51% of the enterprise
- Control the business
- Have requisite expertise
- Be a U.S. citizen or lawfully admitted permanent resident.

What are the advantages of obtaining the State of Missouri MBE/WBE certification?

Certification as an MBE and/or WBE provides greater opportunities for these businesses to bid on state contracts. All certified MBE/WBE vendors appear on the Office of Equal Opportunity Directory of Certified MBE/WBE Vendors. Both contractors and state agencies use this site as a resource in soliciting certified minority and/or female participation for ongoing projects. This certification covers all state agencies except for Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT), which participates in the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) Program.

What if a question in the certification application does not apply to me?

Please write not applicable (N/A) and include an explanation.

Is my business automatically certified with the State of Missouri if I am certified with another state?

No. You must go through the State of Missouri's certification process to become certified. It is important to note, however, approval is not guaranteed and each case is reviewed on its individual merits. The requirements for certification vary from state to state, so the easiest way to discover if your certification qualifies is to contact your individual state's MBE/WBE/DBE Program.

Is my business automatically certified if I am certified as an MBE/WBE with another Missouri certifying entity?

No. Missouri-based businesses may gain accreditation by providing a current certificate from one of the following approved certifying entities listed. You must apply to Office of Equal Opportunity for MBE/WBE Certification through the Rapid Response Process. This process requires minimal additional documentation and can be completed in a shorter time frame than the Standard In-State Certification. Some of those approved certifying entities include:

**The Missouri Regional Certification Committee (which includes MoDOT, Metrolink, Kansas City Area Transportation Authority (KCATA), Lambert International Airport/City of Saint Louis, City of Kansas City Missouri KCHRD, Mid-America Regional Council, East-West Gateway Council of Governments)*

**The National Women Business Owners Corporation (NWBOC) www.nwboc.org*

**The Saint Louis Minority Business Council (SLMBC) www.mambdc.org and the Mid-America Business Development Council www.slmhc.org*

OEO does not guarantee certification approval and reserves the right to make a determination based on the review of each individual submission.

What help is available with the application process?

If you need help with the application process please call our office at 1-877-259-2963 or 573-751-8130, our friendly staff will be happy to assist you.

Is there an application fee?

No. This service is provided free of charge as a benefit from the state of Missouri.

How long does the certification process take?

Standard process for Missouri based businesses takes approximately 45-60 days from the day that the application becomes complete (All requested documentation must be included to proceed to the next stage). An on-site visit must be conducted and a final review is necessary to evaluate whether your firm qualifies in meeting program guidelines. Out of State and Rapid applications might take less processing time.

What does an on-site visit entail?

An on-site visit is a verbal and visual verification of the MBE/WBE owner's ability to fulfill certification requirements. There is no need for preparation; the interviewer will bring the MBE/WBE's file to the visit. Any additional documentation that may be needed can be provided on-site or gathered for later submission. This visit also allows the applicant an opportunity to get acquainted with program staff, ask questions specific to their individual circumstances or needs and voice concerns.

May I bid on state projects prior to my certification?

Yes. Your MBE/WBE status does not preclude you from bidding on state contracts or bidding with prime contractors for subcontracts. Certification is not necessary for doing business with the State of Missouri, however MBE/WBE certification, carries with it significant advantages, especially for smaller, less-established firms.

Do the participation targets remain constant in all contracts?

No. Executive Order 05-30 establishes that "all state agencies shall continue to make every feasible effort to target the percentage of goods and services procured from certified MBEs and WBEs to 10% and 5%, respectively." The Division of Purchasing and Materials Management (DPMM) and Facilities Management, Design and Construction (FMDC) have the authority to set target recommendations for each project based on the availability of MBE and WBE firms to perform the work.

What types of contracting opportunities are available with the State of Missouri?

There are various types of opportunities for contracting with the State of Missouri, and these opportunities change constantly. For the most recent listing of available opportunities please visit, <http://www.oa.mo.gov/purch/vendorinfo/upbidops.html> for subcontracting opportunities or <https://www.moolb.mo.gov/BidList/bidbytype.asp?bidnum=0&rtype=aqcyo> for a listing of bids available by agency.

How does the State of Missouri keep track of the participation of an MBE/WBE in a contract?

As a requirement of the contracts the prime contractor must submit payment verification forms to the Department of Purchasing and Materials Management every month. These forms are utilized by DPMM to keep track of the MBE/WBE participation on each contract. These forms are available for public viewing at <http://www.imageweb.oa.mo.gov/acordeweb/Client/Framework.asp>.

How can suspected abuse of the MBE/WBE program be reported?

Reports of fraud and abuse or if there are third parties who have reason to believe that an enterprise has been wrongfully granted certification, either as an MBE/WBE or joint venture, they may file a third party challenge with OEO. Challenges by third parties are not considered an appeal. Any allegations of suspected abuse of Missouri's MBE/WBE program or to obtain forms to report the suspected abuse, please call OEO via our toll-free hotline at 1-877-259-2963.

How will MBE/WBE contract compliance be monitored?

If there is a complaint about the performance of an MBE/WBE, the Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO) has authority to conduct on-site inspections and an administrative review of a certified firm at any time without prior notification. If for any reason a minority or women-owned subcontractor is not performing in accordance with the requirements of their contract, the prime contractor may request permission to remove or substitute that particular MBE and/or WBE with another certified business. The prime contractor must first however notify OEO of their intent to remove an MBE and/or WBE subcontractor during the course of the contract. Supporting documentation must be furnished by the prime contractor stating the reasons why the participating business should be removed. OEO may then schedule a meeting with all parties to discuss the potential removal of the MBE/WBE subcontractor/supplier. It will be the responsibility of OEO to recommend disqualification after the review process.

Small Business Development Centers

The information provided below should be used as a referral and resource guide to those public and private sector agencies dedicated to helping women realize their entrepreneurial opportunities.

MU Extension Business Development Program

The MU Extension Business Development Program (BDP) addresses Missouri economic development issues from the perspective of its many statewide efforts including the Missouri Procurement Technical Assistance Center (MO PTAC), the Missouri Small Business and Technology Development Centers (MO SBTDC) and the Missouri Federal and State Technology Partnership (MoFAST) initiative.

The BDP is co-hosted by MU Extension and the MU College of Engineering. It works with partner host institutions across the state to provide Missouri's prospective and existing small business owners with the educational and technical assistance resources they need to be competitive.

Each year, MO SBTDC counselors successfully assist more than 2,000 businesses. The staff is uniquely qualified to help small businesses get started, develop and thrive by offering training programs and counseling services. Counselors with MO SBTDC are focused on strengthening the technological competitiveness of Missouri's businesses. Designed to improve the participation of small technology firms in the innovation and commercialization of new technology, the MO SBTDC program encourages and enhances technology research and development, technology transfer and technology deployment. One of the primary services of MO SBTDC is the Missouri Federal and State Partnership Program (MoFAST) initiative. MoFAST provides services to businesses interested in participating in the SBIR/STTR programs, which offer highly competitive opportunities for young technologically oriented firms to vie for federal research and development funds.

Missouri Procurement Technical Assistance Centers (MO PTAC)

MO PTAC counselors assist businesses—including small, disadvantaged and women-owned firms—in obtaining federal, state and local government contracts. Dealing with regulations and red tape can be frustrating. In fact, those obstacles often keep highly qualified suppliers from selling to the government. MO PTAC procurement specialists help clients in identifying opportunities and understanding the government contracting process so they can properly offer their goods and services for sale to the many government offices and agencies that depend on the private sector to supply their needs.

Missouri Source Link

MOSourceLink provides free, easy access to help small businesses needs by linking them to the right resource at the right time. MOSourceLink accomplishes this by connecting small business owners and entrepreneurs to its special network of nonprofit resource organizations that provide business building programs and services throughout the state of Missouri.

How does the network work?

The easy-to-use MOSourceLink service:

- Gathers information about the business and what is needed
- Guides owners and entrepreneurs to the right resources that can help them meet those needs
- Follows up to assure service and satisfaction
- Understands small business
- Provides all of these services at no cost to the entrepreneur of the resource organization

The MOSourceLink network can be accessed in two primary ways:

- Call the hotline phone Toll Free at 866.870.6500 or 816.235.6500
- Search for resources online with The Resource Navigator on www.MOSourceLink.com

MOSourceLink's network of more than 250 resource partner organizations provides a wide range of services to help owners start and build their businesses.

Leadership and professional development for youth and adults, through our extensive education programs.

Missouri Linked Deposit Program

The Missouri Linked Deposit Program is administered by the Office of the Missouri State Treasurer. Under this program, below-market rate deposits of state funds are placed in Missouri financial institutions allowing eligible borrowers to obtain low-interest loans from the institution. Savings to the borrower are generally 25-30% of their interest costs.

The Missouri Link Deposit program presents a great opportunity for women and minorities to make their dreams come true of owning a small business or expanding their business. Link Deposit designates affordable capital to be made available to businesses to help them grow and expand Missouri's economy and create jobs and opportunities for all citizens. Linked-Deposit program can help make the critical difference to help businesses achieve lasting success. The Linked-Deposit program can help banks provide essential funding and capital to women and minority-owned businesses in Missouri, and do so at reduced interest rates to help businesses succeed.

Why is Green Good for Women?

The emerging green economy is shaping employment opportunities across the country. It is increasing the demand for, and changing the requirements of, existing occupations while generating brand new occupations. Green jobs are diverse, rewarding and overwhelmingly nontraditional to women.

Women have made great strides in some male-dominated occupations, yet they still represent only a small portion of the workers in green occupations. For example, women represent only 1.7 percent of electricians; 3.7 percent of locomotive engineers and operators; 16 percent of industrial production managers; and 5.5 percent of first-line supervisors/managers of mechanics, installers, and repairers. Workers in these jobs retrofit buildings, design and operate environmentally-friendly transportation technologies, and help produce wind and solar power.

Targeted efforts on the part of policymakers, funders, employers, workforce professionals, training and education providers, and advocates are needed to ensure that women recognize the opportunity presented by green occupations, and are able to fully participate in and benefit from the new green economy.

Seven Reasons for Women to Consider a Green Job:

- A green job can provide the chance to earn more
- Women can start with any skill level
- Green jobs appeal to workers with a diversity of skills and interests
- There are multiple ways to get started in a green job
- Green job opportunities are available for workers of any age
- Green jobs can give women greater satisfaction
- Green employers are looking to hire

Career Education Coordinators

Operating under the leadership of the Missouri Center for Career Education (MCCE), the MCCE Career Education Coordinators (CECs) develop and implement a statewide scope of work. They are organized regionally and provide services to eight designated regions of the state. Formerly New Traditions Coordinators, the CECs work with students and educators to recruit and retain students in career and technical (CTE) programs that are nontraditional for their gender.

Mission: To promote and support career development with an emphasis on nontraditional careers.

Goals:

- Advance career exploration and career development initiatives (Career Clusters)
- Provide professional development for educators
- Promote awareness, recruitment, and retention of nontraditional students in career and technical education programs
- Collaborate with community partners to support educators and students

Assist comprehensive high schools, area career centers, and community colleges in the use of data and development of strategies focusing on Perkins IV indicators relative to nontraditional participation and completion.

Hot Jobs for the 21st Century, 2006-2016

Labor Force:

- The labor force is estimated to increase by 12.8 million persons between 2006-2016; about 6.3 million (49 percent) will be women.
- In 2016, women are expected to comprise 46.5 percent of the estimated 164.2 million persons in the labor force.

Employment:

- During the 2006-2016 period, total employment is projected to increase by 10.4 percent from 150.6 to 166.2 million.
- Over the 2006-2016 period, employment in professional and related occupations is projected to grow at the same rate as employment in service occupations—both at 16.7 percent.
- Between the 2006-2016 period, production occupations are expected to see a loss of slightly more than half a million jobs (528,000).

Occupations Fastest Growth:

The fastest growing occupations are dominated by professional and related occupations associated with health care and the provision of social and mental health services. Examples are:

- Health related: Personal and Home care aides; Home Health Aides; Medical Assistants; Substance Abuse and Behavior Disorder Counselors; Social and Human Service Assistants; Physical Therapists Assistants; Pharmacy Technicians; Dental Hygienists; and Mental Health Counselors; Mental Health and Substance Abuse Social Workers; Dental Assistants; Physical Therapists; and Physician Assistants
- Computer Related: Network System and Data Communication Analysts; Computer Software Engineers; Computer Systems Analysts; Database Administrators.
- Personal Care and Service Related: Makeup Artists; Theatrical and Performance; Skin Care Specialists; Manicurists and Pedicurists
- Other Fast Growing Occupations: Veterinary Technologists and Technicians; Personal Financial Advisors; Veterinarians; Financial Analysts; Gaming Surveillance Officers and Gaming Investigators; Forensic Science Technicians; Marriage and Family Therapists; Gaming and Sport Book Writers and Runners; and Environmental Science and Protection Technicians, including Health.

Rapid growth in health-related occupations reflects an aging population that requires more health care, a wealthier population that can afford better health care, and advances in medical technology that permit more health problems to be treated more aggressively.

The fastest growing health-related and personal care occupations are already dominated by women and it stands to reason that women will continue to do so.

Missouri Career Centers and Workforce Investment Boards

Missouri Career Centers are located in many communities across the state and represent a unique partnership of employment and training organizations that reflect the specific needs in each local community. Workers, employers, students and those looking for a first job or returning to the work force will find a resource area in each Missouri Career Center. These resource areas are equipped with computers fax machines, and telephones that operate similarly to a public library. For additional information, visit them online at www.missouricareersource.com.

Missouri Workforce Investment Boards

Individuals that wish to explore and pursue career and training opportunities may use the services of these centers. Customers can identify labor markets and determine qualifications for jobs. Individuals entering a career center can receive assistance in creating and entering their resume, learning about job openings, conducting a job search using career center resources, registering for a new job training or educational program, or registering for unemployment services.

Employers may use the services of these centers for new employee referrals, occupational skill interviewing and testing, learning about financial incentives for hiring new workers, or simply access potential employees registered at career centers via the Internet. For employers, having these resources together makes it easier for a business to get the word out that it needs employees. The system also helps employers tap into job training resources and other programs to help in job creation, providing information on the opportunities available to receive tax incentives and other programs for hiring people from unemployment and welfare rolls, as well as employing individuals with disabilities.

University Outreach and Extension Centers

University Outreach and Extension

Using science-based knowledge, University of Missouri Extension engages people to understand change, solve problems and make informed decisions. MU Extension make University education and information accessible for economic viability, empowered individuals, strong families and communities, and health environments. University of Missouri Extension is a partnership of the University of Missouri campuses, Lincoln University, the people of Missouri through county extension councils, and the Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Working with business owners and managers on a one-to-one basis, Business and Industry (B&I) specialists help entrepreneurs identify problem areas and find solutions. Writing a business plan, improving or creating products, developing markets, setting up accounting procedures, finding financing and managing personnel are among the areas with which B&I specialists help clients. B&I services are available to both existing and start-up businesses. All University Outreach and Extension offices can be reached at <http://outreach.missouri.edu>.

Over the past decade, high-tech jobs have shown substantial growth. Women, therefore, need to recognize that in addition to paying well, these jobs are keys to the changing economy of the Twenty-First Century and should receive serious consideration as career choices. Projections for future growth indicate that computers, software, and applications for information technology will continue to have a substantial impact on lives and employment opportunities in the United States.

Use of the Internet and wireless technologies has exploded, creating phenomenal growth and new challenges for manufacturers of this equipment. "High-tech," however, goes beyond computers, software, and the Internet. A broad spectrum of industries and occupations are considered "high-tech."

What does "high-tech" or "high-technology" mean in the United States today? The term "high-tech" is used today to describe industries, occupations and products in which cutting-edge, state-of-the-art technologies are used. The technologies shape the design, development, and introduction of new products and innovative production processes. As high-technology firms systematically apply scientific and technical knowledge to problem solving, they conduct a substantial amount of research and development. Therefore, many of their employees have a scientific, technical or engineering background.

In the July 2005 issue of the Monthly Labor Review, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) described "high-technology" occupations as scientific, engineering, and technician occupations, such as: computer & mathematical scientists; engineers; life & physical scientists; mathematical specialists; engineering & science technicians; computer specialists; and engineering, scientific & computer managers. Individuals employed in these occupations are collectively referred to as technology-oriented workers. Workers in these occupations need in-depth knowledge of the theories and principles of science, engineering, and mathematics acquired through post-secondary specialized education ranging from an associates degree to a doctorate.

In addition to the occupations defined as high-tech, there are also high-tech aspects of many other occupations. For example, many workers operate and repair products used in high-tech industries. These include computer and office machine repairers, aircraft pilots, and radiological technologists and technicians. Most of these occupations require an associate degree or higher. For some, however, certification by hardware and software producers act as a substitute for formal academic education.

Estimates for the year 2014, developed by BLS, project that high technology employment will reach 9.7 million jobs—roughly 6 percent of the 164 million total persons employed in non-farm wage and salary jobs. High-tech occupations offer high pay. In 2004, median weekly earnings for workers in technology-oriented occupations ranged between $526-$1,878, and averaged $1,156, which was more than the median for all occupations ($726).

Between the 2004-2014 period, the number of network systems & data communication analysts is projected to increase by nearly one-fourth, adding nearly 119,000 jobs. High technology growth will account for almost four percent of all projected growth during the period.

Caring Communities

Caring Communities is a “partnership” that enables community and school leaders to define priorities and agendas based on each community’s needs, assets, and vision. The state helps by providing financial and technical assistance, removing bureaucratic barriers, encouraging innovative ideas, and promoting broad participation in Caring Communities activities. While the state’s goal is to provide maximum flexibility, every Caring Communities site focuses on six core results; parents working, healthy children and families, children safe in their families; families safe in their communities, children prepared to enter school, children and youth succeeding in school, and youth ready to enter productive adulthood

Missouri Child Care Resources and Referral Network

The Missouri Child Care Resources and Referral Network Coordinates the activities of the eight child care resource and referral agencies that serve all 115 counties in Missouri. They advocate for high quality, affordable, and accessible care for all Missouri families. Childcare resource and referral agencies exist in all counties in Missouri and in virtually all parts of the country. They work to improve the quality and supply of childcare through a number of different strategies. Their audiences include parents, employers, childcare providers, and other community members.

Women and the Economy 2010: 25 Years of Progress But Challenges Remain

Women are a critically important part of the labor force

In the last 25 years, women's labor force participation has grown sharply. In 1984, 53.6 percent of women were in the labor market. By 2009, that number had grown to 59.2 percent. All of the growth in women's labor force participation occurred prior to 2000. In contrast, over the same period, men's labor force participation rates were falling. Since the late 1990s, women's labor force participation rates have remained roughly flat while men's labor force participation has continued to decline.

Women's share of payroll employment has grown over the last 25 years. In 1984, women comprised just 44 percent of payroll employment. In 2009, women comprised nearly half (49.8 percent) of payroll employment. The recent gender parity in payroll employment is most likely explained by the disparate impact of the Great Recession on industries, such as construction and manufacturing, which employ concentrations of men than women.

The number of women in the workforce has grown by 44.2 percent over the last 25 years, from 46 million in 1984 to 66 million in 2009. Yet the distribution of those working women's work schedules has remained remarkably constant: about one-quarter work part-time, while the remaining three-quarters work full time.

Selecting a Career and Career Self-Assessments

When selecting a career you need to take an inventory of your likes, dislikes, personal characteristics, values, wants, and needs. It is the first part of the career planning process. Before you decide what you want to be, you first have to discover who you are. People change, grow, and develop so everyone should reassess themselves periodically in relation to their career goals.

There are many instruments available to assist you with your career self-assessment. Some are available at your local career centers or high schools however, if you need other resources here are online inventories to try out.

www.onetcenter.org (in "Products" folder)

www.bridges.com (in "Products and Services", "High School")

www.workkeys.com

WorkKeys® assessments give students and workers reliable, relevant information about real world skills that employers feel are critical to job success, such as applied mathematics and technology, business writing, listening, locating information, observation, overall job readiness, and writing. After an assessment is complete, you are informed how your skills compare to specific job requirements, providing a targeted solution that save you more time in your career search.

Some other things to consider when developing your career plan:

Core Expertise: What are your skills? Do you have experience in a specific field?

Personal Desires: Do you want a balance between work, family and friends? Do you desire to work at home, or in a small or large company setting?

Current & Future Financial Needs: What do you really need, as opposed to really want? Think about your current and long-term financial needs.

Health: Do you have physical limitations? How much physical energy are you willing to exert in a job?

Geographic Location: Where do you want to live? Remember: computers and the Internet make communicating much easier today and offer people more flexibility in where they live and work.

Resume Writing

Information about resume writing

You should use a resume because:

- It introduces you to the employer and creates the first impression.
- It helps set you apart from the crowd in the interview screening process.
- It jump-starts the process of selling you to prospective employers.
- It summarizes your qualifications and experience.

Things to keep in mind when creating a resume on-line:

- Have your personal information organized before you begin entering data.
- Review your electronic resume for spelling errors or incorrect entries.
- If you are using a personal computer in a resource room of a one-stop career center, a public school or public library, there will be someone there to assist you with questions.

What information should I include?

Personal Data: Include name, addresses, phone numbers and e-mail address.

Education and Training: List most recent schools and training.

Work Experience: Cite experience relevant to the job you are seeking.

School or Community Activities: Include leadership positions you have held.

References: The preferred method is to list your references' name, titles, addresses, and phone numbers on the resume, cover letter or on a separate sheet.

Miscellaneous: Include information such as military service, special skills or knowledge, or membership in professional organizations.

Resume Checklist

Did you:

- ___ Emphasize your assets; show how your skills meet the employer's needs?
- ___ Write in a truthful, clear and concise manner?
- ___ Say what you wanted to say?
- ___ Use action verbs?
- ___ Outline your work history, education, references, etc. on one to two pages?
- ___ Write your resume in a business-like way?
- ___ Proof for typing, grammatical and spelling errors?
- ___ Rewrite the resume several times?
- ___ Print your resume on high-quality paper for a professional image?
- ___ Include only relevant information?
- ___ Check phone numbers, addresses, and email addresses?
